tammeys333@gmail.com

Required Textbook: God's Design for Life: The World of Animals; ISBN: 1626914303

Lab Fee: $10.00 per semester.

Course Description: This course offers hands on activities and project-based learning to engage students by applying principals to real world scenarios. Students will discover the diversity of animal life through STEM, models, and dissections.

Preparation: Includes timely arrival, appropriate book, folder, paper, and pencil.

Assignments: It is important that work be done well and on time. Work not turned in on time will be marked down 10%. If it is not turned in by the week after it is due, a note will go home.

Tests: All tests will be preceded by a review sheet given on the previous week.

Class Time: Class time will include lab work, practice, study skills instruction, note-taking as well as other instructional methods. Book work will be completed in class. Homework may be assigned if we don't get finished with work in class.

Student Evaluation: Student will be given a letter grade each semester based upon the following:

Class Assignments: 60%
Tests: 30%
Participation: 10%
